Your Benefits

What insights will you gain?

Your team will get answers to its most important questions. For example, our clients often ask how can they ...

- ... Become a strategic partner with analysts?
- ... Build stronger relationships with sales people?
- ... Get more value out of ARchitect Express or other CRM tools?
- ... Bring the Analyst Relations processes up to the next level of success?
- ... Invest their budget more efficiently?

As a result, the Development Workshop provides:

- More customised development than off-the-shelf training
- An engaging conversation, rather than a passive presentation
- Clearer outcomes and options.

How does the Kea Company Development Workshop work?

Our service is split into three stages which help you to discover what sort of value you deliver to the rest of the organization: an outline audit; the development workshop itself, and follow-up reviews.

Stage 1 IDEAL Diagnostic Audit

The main part of the first stage of our Development Workshop is the IDEAL Diagnostic Audit.

It is a 100-question-study which members of your Analyst Relations team complete online. The answers will give us a deep insight into your analyst relations strategies.

You will be asked valuable questions and the answers will have an important impact on our next steps to make you even more successful.

A few questions mentioned in our IDEAL Diagnostic Audit...

- ... How effectively are you targeting?
- ... Are you meeting the analyst's needs?
- ... Do you give the analysts all the information they need to be able to recommend you to buyers?

DEVELOPING WORKSHOP SERVICE

Stage 2 Workshop Day

This stage is the major part of our service. We use the results of the IDEAL Diagnostic Audit to focus your team on identifying new opportunities and solutions for your Analyst Relations programme. We will spend a whole day with you and interactively develop strategies and tactics.

For teams aiming at IIAR certification, the workshop can also include a review of best practice. If chosen, the review includes IIAR certification and membership fees for attendees.

By focusing on the most important things we will be able to solve bottleneck that are probably affecting different elements of your Analyst Relations processes and your relationships with stakeholders. Together, we will create a step-by-step plan about how to resolve these challenges to bring you up to the next level of success.

Stage 3 Follow-Up Plan

Our last stage includes a follow-up plan where we identify opportunities to allow the team to continue to move forward.

The plan is delivered as a detailed report with prioritised recommendations and suggested timeline. Typical Workshop Day Agenda
